

Harry W. Sullivan

Executive Professor of Law, Texas A&M University School of Law

Harry Sullivan is an International Energy Attorney based in Dallas, Texas, where he is an Executive Professor at Texas A&M School of Law and an Adjunct Professor at SMU's Dedman School of Law and works as Assistant General Counsel for Kosmos Energy in their West Africa exploration activities.

His previous experience includes fourteen years as Senior Counsel-International in the International E&P Legal Group of ConocoPhillips, Of Counsel with Thompson & Knight LLP, fifteen years as Chief Counsel-International and Senior Counsel for Atlantic Richfield Company and five years as Senior Counsel for Sun Oil Company.

He has a J.D. degree from Louisiana State University School of Law and an LL.M. degree from Southern Methodist University Dedman School of Law.

He is licensed to practice law in the states of Louisiana and Texas and before the Supreme Court of the United States; and is Board Certified in Oil, Gas and Mineral Law in Texas. He is also admitted as a Solicitor in England and Wales.

His practice and experience focuses on the upstream and mid-stream oil and gas industry, both in the U.S.A. and internationally, in more than 25 different countries. He has extensive experience in international gas and LNG projects.

He currently teaches oil and gas law, international petroleum transactions, international oil and gas negotiations, oil and gas contracts and oil and gas advanced contract drafting. Additionally, he has taught international petroleum transactions at South Texas College of Law and oil and gas law at Texas Wesleyan University School of Law (now Texas A&M University School of Law), SMU's Cox School of Business and Dallas' El Centro College; and business law at the University of Texas at Arlington.