LL.M. or M. Jur. Curriculum in Risk Management

Howdy! We hope you'll join us!

The graduate curriculum in Risk Management provides you the knowledge and skills you need to work successfully in a fast paced, highly-structured, deadline driven culture. We've designed the program with both lawyer and non-lawyer professionals in mind, and have built courses that help connect the dots across a number of issues, such as compliance, fiduciary management, corporate governance, and more. Engage, innovate, and interact in a dynamic environment that mimics the real world of risk management.

Whether you are a

- Compliance Officer
- Risk Specialist
- Intelligence Research Specialist
- Fraud/Anti-Money Laundering Analyst
- Asset Forfeiture Manager

you'll develop analytical, cross-referencing, and deductive reasoning skills to help you navigate through the complexities and ever-changing nature of risk.

Part Time. For today's working professionals!

The Benefits of Distance Learning

All courses are offered in an engaging asynchronous format, allowing students the flexibility to listen to course lectures and complete coursework as necessary. Students will complete class assessments, to help ensure that program and course learning outcomes are achieved. Professors will be available for set virtual office hours, as well as through classroom discussion boards. Exams will be administered online and proctored by a live person. Uninterrupted access to the Risk Management program is of utmost importance to Texas A&M. Therefore, our dedication to student technical support is second-to-none. All courses within the Risk Management program receive 24/7 Technical Support.

Student Services

Student support services are provided by a combination of the main campus, on-site at Texas A&M School of Law, digitally through the learning management system software and the associated program website and portal. Students enrolled in the online programs will have continuous access to the student support services that they need at any time, including financial aid, counseling, tutoring, and career services as offered by Texas A&M School of Law.

“Corporate risk managers are the gatekeepers of the enterprise and need to develop a complete understanding of both tangible and intangible risks—critical to the long term sustainability and viability of the enterprise.

Learn how to identify, measure and evaluate non-financial risk such as reputational risk, intellectual risk, manufactured risk, natural risk, and human risk. This is an exclusive opportunity to be on the front lines of innovation.”

— Richard Kravtiz, program instructor

This program is pending approval by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools Commission on Colleges.

Importance of being an Aggie

As a member of Texas A&M School of Law, you'll receive the strong support and resources of a large tier-one public university—but there are also intangible, but very real, aspects of Texas A&M that will benefit you at Texas A&M Law. The matchless spirit, 12th man tradition, and core values that set Texas A&M apart from other major universities will distinguish you as a graduate. The Aggie Ring is the most visible symbol of the Aggie Network that connects Aggies around the world. The 460,000-strong Aggie Network of current and former students stands ready to help you throughout your career.

Library Services

The Dee J. Kelly Law Library features 301,000 volumes and volume equivalents, over 223,000 titles, and more than 5,200 serial subscriptions. All students enrolled in the online Risk Management degree program may use the library and related resources to support their learning. Students will have password access to the major online legal research services: Westlaw, LexisNexis, Bloomberg Law and access to United State federal and state law sources. In addition, each vendor provides customer support. Students will also gain access to a number of online databases specifically identified as relevant for the Risk Management program.

Why Risk Management?

Risk Management is a growing field with employment prospects expected to increase by 30 percent over the next ten years.

As Risk Management become more intertwined with legal regulation, industry professionals look to legal education for training. Texas A&M is uniquely positioned to provide education not only to those who are licensed attorneys, but other professionals who need legal training but not interested in the practice of law.
